Privacy Policy 23/24

St Paul's C of E Academy is committed to protecting the privacy and security of your personal information.

We have therefore developed this privacy policy to inform you of the data we collect, what we do with your information, what we do to keep it secure as well as the rights and choices you have over your personal information.

Throughout this document we refer to Data Protection Legislation which means the Data Protection Act 2018 (DPA2018), the United Kingdom General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR), the Privacy and Electronic Communications (EC Directive) Regulations 2003 and any legislation implemented in connection with the aforementioned legislation. Where data is processed by a controller or processor established in the European Union or comprises the data of people in the European Union, it also includes the EU General Data Protection Regulation (EU GDPR). This includes any replacement legislation coming into effect from time to time.

GDPR is a piece of EU-wide legislation which determines how people's personal data is processed and kept safe. It also sets out the legal rights individuals have in relation to their own data. The Regulation came into force on 25 May 2018 and it applies to all schools. The Regulations were implemented into UK law via the Data Protection Act 2018 (DPA 2018) and so this law will apply even after the UK leaves the

There are six main principles defined by GDPR:

1. Lawfulness, fairness and transparency
2. Purpose limitations
3. Storage limitations
4. Accuracy
5. Data minimisation
6. Integrity and confidentiality

There is also the new requirement that the Controller must be able to demonstrate accountability

Under the principle of 'lawfulness', GDPR/DPA 2018 specifies a number of lawful bases for holding personal data. The primary legal basis for schools will be 'public interest' when the data is necessary to fulfil the school's functions. Other legal bases relevant to schools include: consent, legal obligation and vital interest, although the circumstances where these are used are likely to be very limited.

There are also stronger rights for individuals regarding their own data. These rights are as follows:

- The right to be informed – how their data is used
- The right of access to their data – Subject Access Requests
- The right to rectification – correcting inaccurate data
- The right to erasure – deleting personal data
- The right to restrict processing – restricting how their data is used
- The right to data portability – moving data from one organisation to another
- The right to object – objecting to an organisation having their personal data in the first place
- Rights in relation to automated decision-making and profiling – where software makes automatic decisions about an individual

<https://www.gov.uk/education/data-collection-and-censuses-for-schools>

The National Pupil Database (NPD)

Much of the data about pupils in England goes on to be held in the National Pupil Database (NPD).

The NPD is owned and managed by the Department for Education and contains information about pupils in schools in England. It provides invaluable evidence on educational performance to inform independent research, as well as studies commissioned by the Department.

It is held in electronic format for statistical purposes. This information is securely collected from a range of sources including schools, local authorities and awarding bodies.

To find out more about the NPD, go to

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/national-pupil-database-user-guide-and-supporting-information>.

Sharing

The law allows the Department to share pupils' personal data with certain third parties, including:

- schools
- local authorities
- researchers
- organisations connected with promoting the education or wellbeing of children in England

For more information about the Department's NPD data sharing process, please visit:

<https://www.gov.uk/data-protection-how-we-collect-and-share-research-data>

Organisations fighting or identifying crime may use their legal powers to contact DfE to request access to individual level information relevant to detecting that crime. Whilst numbers fluctuate slightly over time, DfE typically supplies data on around 600 pupils per year to the Home Office and roughly 1 per year to the Police.
